Research for this guide was provided by Ritu Wackett and Chris Seymour under the direction of Alice Meaker. Additional research was provided by Stephanie Greenwood. Final production was overseen by project director, Bettina Damiani. The expertise and guidance of Greg LeRoy, Director of Good Jobs First and James Parrott, Deputy Director and Frank Mauro Executive Director of the Fiscal Policy Institute made this manual possible.

We wish to also acknowledge the support of Good Jobs New York's funders: the Rockefeller Family Fund, the New York Foundation, The New York Community Trust, and The Rockefeller Foundation.

Reproduction of this manual is encouraged! You can also download this information from our website at www.goodjobsny.org

Stay in Touch

With a new Mayoral administration on the horizon that will inherently mean changes in personnel and programs, we will issue a second edition of this manual. Your feedback regarding success or struggles in obtaining information about public money spent in the name of economic development is important! We're also interested in your thoughts about how to make this research manual more useful. Is there anything you learned in the course of your research that would be helpful to others investigating job subsidies? Have you identified sources of information – people, departments or websites for example – that should be included here? Contact Good Jobs New York about this research manual at gjny@ctj.org, or call 212.414-9394. Similarly, contact Good Jobs First at 202.737-4315 if you have suggestions on No More Secret Candy Store.
